THE EVENING STAR. WASHINGTON:

THE EVENING STAR has a regular an permanent circulation in Was es larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

The silver nightmare is over, so far as the first session of the Fifty-second Congress is oncerned. The history of the movement in this Congress to accomplish the free coinage of alver is instructive. It is now a familiar history. From the choice of a Speaker and ppointment of a committee on coinage, ights and measures down to the refusal of that Speaker to concede to that committee and the friends of silver a rule to bring on a direct rote on the question, the steps in the elation and dejection of the silver men and in the lejection and elation of the anti-silver men have all been plainly seen. Nevertheless the ourprise of the one or the other at the unexpected turn of events has been unfeigned. The causes of the defeat of the silver men before the matter could come to a formal vote on the question are equally plain to those who will read them in the politial developments of the last few weeks. First, there is the impolicy on economical grounds of the proposed measure. Before any concert of action with interested foreign powers, in opcontion to the business interests of this country the prime movers insisted that a sweeping law of free and unlimited silver coinage should be enacted. Next, the impolicy as a political stroke of pressing the bill has gradually dawned on the minds of members who are, with their constituents, committed to the principles of the measure. The friends of a particular presidential candidate entrenching themselves behind these two impolicies and the opposition of some democrats to the proposed cloture found no great difficulty in utilizing passing events in favor of his can-didacy. The situation of the democratic party as resulting from the altered status of the | Will open at Willard's Hotel private parlors, diver question in the House and the country is not yet perfectly clear There are obstructions sequent course of the victors, the anti-silver faction, but whatever they may amount to in the end the immediate fruits of the victory are apparent. The free coinage issue is adjourned. The main credit for the ELPHONZO situation will be reaped by the republicans, but a solid advantage is derived by the democrats in escaping a great and threatening danger of party disruption and certain loss of the aposching presidential election. Cleveland as the anti-silver candidate of the democrats is notably strengthened, though the opposition of New York to him is still a formidable obstruction in his path.

The course of the administration in the Bering sea matter is now generally recognized to be wise. The American contention is in such good shape that England assumes a pacific attitude and indicates her willingness to submit to arbitration both the question of mages to the United States and the question of damages to Great Britain. If, as the previous correspondence indicates, Great Britain does not hold herself responsible for Canadian depredations, the proposition for agreement touching British responsibility does not amount to anything. It is a delusion and a snare. But a sincere agreement to pay damages on award of the arbitrators for Canadian depredations would be a fair set off for the other osition. However, the tenor of Lord Salisbury's communication is friendly, indicating a Hor Cocoa willingness to make concessions to come to an agreement, and that means a great deal in a tiation of this kind. It would seem that the affair is in a good way to be settled amica bly, and it may be hoped that the statesmanship shown by our government will result in the reablic securing substantial results, even if some versy are decided adversely to it. Apropos these points it seems strange that certain critics of the administration persist in holding it responsible for insisting on the closed sea argument. There is no reason why the judg-ment of the arbitrators should not be obtained on this point or why the claim to a watery domain based upon our purchase from Russia and long unquestioned enjoyment should not be pushed for what it is worth, but for some time this claim has been retired to make way for the stronger contention, as our main re- All binds lance, that the destruction of the seals is against the public policy of the world, and that we have such a property or interest in the seals from undisputed ownership of their breeding grounds and principal homes that we are entled to protect them even in the open sea.

The report of the committee on reform in the civil service as made to the House contains a suggestion of great importance. The civil service act of January 16, 1883, among the exceptions noted to its provisions mentioned "any person merely employed as a laborer or workman." This has been construed as prohibiting the classification of such laborers. The committee in the bill which they report propose to do away with this exception. The President is empowered in his discretion to include these laborers in the classified service and extend the non-partisan system of appointment to every class of officials as Congress may provide the commission with means. The in-creased efficiency of the public service since the act of 1883 went into operation is sufficient warrant for the proposed widening of the reform, which, it is to be observed, is left strictly within the judgment and will of the executive. The framing of the rules is left to the civil service commission, but it is intended that these rules shall simply provide for proper evidence of the character and physical qualifications of the applicant, Tests of technical skill, where required, may be such simple ones as would be provided by any intelligent officer. As to the numbers added by the bill the committee find that probably 21,000 would be brought by it under the non-political system of appoint-

The reported wholesale robbery and murder of emigrants near the border by Polish peasants is an addition to the horrors with which the world has been regaled lately. The difference between the Vienna and the Liverpool-Australian murders and these Poland butcheries is numerical chiefly. The two Polish ruffians made way with about forty persons, rivaling some of the villains of fiction, even the Burgun-dian inn keeper of the fifteenth century in Charles Reade's story of "The Cloister and

The champion precocious boy has been dis-covered in Kansas City, Mo. He is only nine years old, but he pointed a pistol at the paying eller and demanded all the coppers in the bank. There are not wanting signs that the late alliance between Tammany and the silver poli-ticians of the democratic party is off. Will this fact drive the former into the arms of Grover Cleveland? Politics makes strange bedfellows.

Support for the measure providing for a return to the old method of execution in New York does not develop. It looks as if electroation has come to stay. It is vaguely hinted that Mr. Hill would vote for free silver. Has the New York Senator's executive session sprung a leak?

The democrate in Congress appear to be imminent peril of an epidemic of sulka. General Garza has evidently put gum shoe an his revolution.

What you ought to pay for one is best judged BY DON'T STICK!!! OUR prices. There is none of that inflation for effect's sake. We don't pretend that they are "at cost"-you would know better-but the profit is modest one—and the quality fully equal to it. We do To the old methods think we are a little lower than most folks—and offer a when you have proved little choicer assortment to select from. That has by repeated failures been our aim anyway.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8, 1892. Mr. JOHN N. WEBB, Atlantic Electropoise Co. Dear Sir:I have been using the Electropoise

I have been using the Electropoise at intervals for the past 15 months with a very decided improvement to my general health. I have been a sufferer more or less with indigestion and slight rheumatic gout, which has been entirely cured by the Electropoise without any medicine. I regard it as a wonderful instrument and would not be without it for any amount of money. I have also used it in my family for my children in various diseases and it has always cured. E. J.
